

One of the goals of the TR was to ensure broadband growth. If you eliminate linesharing competition will be eliminated and prices will go up. The CEO of Verizon has publicly stated that DSL should be priced higher. In turn, the CEO of Covad has reduced DSL pricing and others have followed suit. The consumer wants lower prices not big business.